

We Protect Your Business So You Can Focus On Healing Your Clients

While you are an excellent physician, your professional education didn't prepare you to run a business or manage employees. Being an entrepreneur exposes you to legal liability from employees, business partners, service providers, and your patients.

Ayesha Hamilton, Esq. and the Hamilton Law Firm provide legal advice and counsel to professionals like you who are faced with the realities of business operations that they don't want to handle. We protect your practice and prevent expensive problems.

Our Services

Transactions

Purchase and sale of practices, acquisition of new offices, lease negotiations, real estate sales/purchases, practice formation, operating agreements, partnership agreements, associate agreements.

Employment Law

Handling problem employees, complaints of discrimination/harassment, partnership disputes, terminations, discipline; drafting personnel handbooks, employment agreements, separation agreements, restrictive covenants; employment defense negotiations and litigation, litigation support to in house counsel.

Vendor Relationships

Entering into favorable and protective contracts with vendors, contract disputes with vendors/service providers, equipment leases.

Give us a call before these costly issues arise so that the Hamilton Law Firm can make sure you are positioned to best protect yourself and your practice.

(609) 945-7310